Personal Profile

I am a recent school leaver and am very interested in your Laboratory Medicine apprenticeship. My higher biology course has given me a strong foundation in basic laboratory work and I have gained a little experience working with hazardous chemicals as an attendant at my local leisure centre. I have strong customer service skills and a helpful, professional approach to work. I would be thrilled at the chance to move forward in a respected organisation like a hospital

Key Skills

- Excellent communication skills
- Experience working with biological material
- Confident telephone manner
- Customer service experience
- Positive, can - do attitude
- Meticulous nature and an eye for detail

Employment

Leisure Centre Assistant – Some Place Xcite Present

December 2015 –

Since Christmas, I have worked part time at the local Leisure centre as a general assistant as part of the wider leisure team. This has involved charging admission, taking bookings, renting out equipment, handling cash, cleaning and particularly answering the phone. Good customer service skills, a friendly attitude and a helpful manner have been really important to this job and are aspects that I believe will be very important in a medical environment. I have a commitment to maintaining a hygienic and healthy environment at the centre. This has frequently involved working safely and professionally around hazardous chemicals while wearing protective equipment, which will be a regular feature of labwork. At times, I have been required to supervise children's and adult activities which has frequently forced me to think quickly on my feet, remain aware of a lot of information at once and to act in a professional manner even while under pressure. I have really enjoyed the team atmosphere at the sports centre and the opportunity to help members of the public remain fit and healthy, which is a real passion of mine.

Interests

I have always been particularly interested in Biology, which was my favourite subject at school. I enjoy frequent visits to museum exhibits on natural history and have read a number of books on the subject as well. I was also an avid member of my school's science club where I would look forward to lab experiments on a variety of topics. I am constantly eager to be in the lab analysing specimens and I would relish the opportunity to make a career out of this passion while working with the hospital.

I also have a real enthusiasm for football, which I play as part of a local team. In recent years, we have been particularly successful in our league, gaining promotion twice since I started playing. Through this experience I have learned to appreciate the value of teamwork and the level of success a good team can achieve.
